

Youth Programs

Helping prepare young people for future leadership roles and as contributing members of society, MGP has always made the support of youth development programs a priority among the Company's many community involvement activities. Aiding young people in building self-confidence and esteem, and in realizing and developing their individual talents and skills rank high on the list of volunteer initiatives that Company employees consistently and enthusiastically take on. Roles employees perform in this regard include, but certainly are not limited to, the following: Boy Scout and Girl Scout troop leaders; community YMCA instructors; 4-H club leaders and judges; Little League sports coaches; Big Brothers and Big Sisters program participants; choir and theatrical group directors; youth program board members and advisors; and mentors and tutors for a variety of topics related to academic subjects and vocational interests.
